

Research Update: Cancer in lupus

By: Dr. Sasha Bernatsky

This article outlines the most recent international research updates, in relation to previous studies. It focuses on lupus and lupus immunosuppressive drugs and their relationship with lymphoma and lung cancer. It mentions the relation between lupus and skin, breast, cervix, colon and rectal cancer. The article then continue to provide treatment and prevention options. With proper preventative measures, cancer can be controlled and treated successfully in the lupus community.